Art Unit: 1653

Applicant's election with traverse of Invention II, Claims 7-17 in the paper filed May 4, 2004 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that Applicants urge that Inventions II and III have been classified in Class 435 and thus the search is overlapping. While the class is correct, Applicants have not taken into consideration the subclass distinction between the inventions and therefore this argument is not persuasive. Applicants also argue that the method of Invention II is encompassed in the method of Invention III and therefore the search is co-extensive. Invention II requires presenilin mutants while Invention III does not. Therefore, the methods of Invention II and III are not overlapping.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claims 1-6 has been canceled in the transmittal. Claims 18-23 are withdrawn from further consideration by the Examiner because these Claims are drawn to non-elected inventions. Claims 7-17 are currently under examination.

Priority is set to January 9, 1998.

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: The specification is objected to because the "Cross-Reference to Related Applications" at Page 1 needs to be updated. At page 6, "Figure 1" should be amended to read --- Figures 1A-1C ---

Appropriate correction is required.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 1653

Claims 7-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In Claim 7, it is not clear if the mutant presenilin protein also binds to the armadillo protein, or only the fragment. Also in Claims 7 and 12-15, it is not clear what a normal presenilin protein looks like, and therefore what a mutant presenilin protein would look like relative to this sequence. In Claims 12-15, there is no reference sequence provided to know which amino acid residues are defining the armadillo binding fragment. Further, these amino acid residue positions are stated to be a mutated, thus further rendering the claim indefinite because the mutant sequence is not provided. Mutant proteins can comprise substitutions, deletions, and additions. Therefore, the amino acid positions set forth in the claims are "moving targets", depending on the mutant presenilin protein sequence.

In Claim 9, the acronym hNPRAP is not defined. It appears that it is intended that this acronym stands for human neural plakophilin-related armadillo repeat protein, but this definition does not appear to be set forth in the specification. Applicants may wish to provide prior art evidence of the definition of hNPRAP to establish that this acronym is well-known and can be placed in the specification and claims without adding new matter.

The control group of Claim 17 does not appear to have antecedent basis in Claim 7. Claim 7 requires a culture of cells that express armadillo protein and mutant presenilin. Therefore, the control group must also comprise culture of cells that express armadillo protein and mutant presenilin or there can be no comparison between the two cultures regarding the activity of the test substance. If the control group comprises wild-type presenilin, then there can be no comparison of the activity of the test substance between two different cultures.

No Claims are allowed.
